DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1, 2, 7, and 9-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being clearly anticipated by Gilligan [USPUB 2003/0152333].

Gilligan discloses a fiber-optic connector and the method comprising:

Preparing a fiber optics sub-assembly [optical fiber cable 13];

Inserting a first end of the sub-assembly into a housing cap 25 and then permeating a sealant 24 [fig. 2] into between the housing cap and the sub-assembly;

Stripping a protective coating a second section of the fiber [column 2, ¶ 0025];

Inserting the second end of the sub-assembly into a hole of a sleeve [21 and 12, or 20] and then permeating a sealant into a between the second section of the fiber and the sleeve hole [fig. 2]; and

Surrounding the housing cap and the sleeve with a housing tube 11.

Art Unit: 2874

Note that the tight bonding and air-tightness after applying sealant is inherently done by the sealant.

In re claim 2, the second portion has a length shorter than the length of the sleeve.

In re claims 9 and 10, applicant fails to establish the definition of the "completely moisture-proof" in the claim. Examiner considers that most material is somewhat completely moisture-proof.

In re claims 11-13, the apparatus claims are clearly read over Gilligan's device.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 3-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gilligan.

Art Unit: 2874

Gilligan disclose every aspect of claimed invention except for the tin soldering process.

Official Notice is taken that tin soldering and welding process for the purpose of tight joining between two materials is old and well known in the art. See In Re Malcolm 1942 C.D. 589:543 O.G. 440 MPEP 706.02 (a).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to the ordinary skilled person in the art at the time the invention was made to modify to include the tin soldering or welding process in the joins between the housing tube and the housing cap, and between the housing tube and the sleeve.

Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gilligan.

Gilligan disclose every aspect of claimed invention except for the claimed material.

It would have been obvious to the ordinary skilled person in the art at the time the invention was made to modify to include the claimed material, since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416.
